

PREPARING TO SUBDUDE ARABI.

WHAT THE POWERS ARE DOING.
REMONS ABOUT THE PORT'S INTENTIONS—THE FRENCH CREDIT—AN ATTEMPT TO SURPRISE THE BRITISH TROOPS—DEBATE IN PARLIAMENT.
Trade has revived somewhat in Alexandria. An attempt which was made to surprise the British forces failed, and Arabi Pacha is said to have withdrawn his pickets to Kafr-el-Dwar. The British General Allenby is closing in on him. An offer of his to disarm a portion of the rebels if his offenses are condoned has been rejected. Conflicting reports are given as to whether or not the Porte is to send troops to Egypt. The Committee of the French Chamber has rejected a proposal for a second credit for protective measures in Egypt. There was further debate in Parliament yesterday on the motion for a credit. What purports to be the attitude of Germany is outlined.

AN ATTACK REPULSED.

LONDON, July 26.—The Daily Telegraph in its second edition contains the following dispatch from Alexandria: "At 9 o'clock last evening a decided attempt was made to surprise the British outposts. Under cover of darkness a force of 600 men approached close to the British lines, when the 38th Regiment opened fire. The enemy retreated precipitately. During the remainder of the night the Egyptians continued moving about just beyond range. The attempt was preceded by reports that Arabi Pacha was attempting to treat for conditions for his surrender and that a white flag was flying over his intrenchments. The reports were probably circulated to fill the vigilance of the British."

ITALY'S REPLY TO GREAT BRITAIN.

ROME, July 26.—Sir A. B. Paget, the British Ambassador, presented to the Italian Government today an invitation to join in the protection of the Suez Canal. Signor Mancini, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in reply to the invitation fully reciprocated the friendly sentiments of England but pointed out that it was impossible for the Italian Government to decide upon it until the Conference of Constantinople had been opened. Signor Mancini gave a similar reply to M. d'Harcourt.

PRINCE BISMARCK'S INSTRUCTIONS.

LONDON, July 26.—A Reuter dispatch from Constantinople says: "It is reported in diplomatic circles in Constantinople that Prince Bismarck has instructed the German representative here to declare that Germany regards England's intervention in Egypt as the only means of avoiding a European conflict, and believes that when Egypt is pacified the Powers will demand a collective settlement of the Egyptian question."

HOW THE TIMES VIEWS THE SITUATION.

LONDON, July 26.—The Times, in a leading article, says: "Neither as sovereign, suzerain, nor under any other title will there be room for the influence of the Sultan in Egypt after the responsibilities of sovereignty have been cynically thrown aside in the hour of trial. The Sultan may have amused himself by forming new alliances and complimenting his new allies with decorations, but it remains to be seen what help these sympathizers can or will give the Porte. England, by acting alone, will acquire and assert her right of controlling in future the country she saved. Those who object to that prospect have, even at the eleventh hour, the opportunity of sharing the labor and obtaining a voice in the determination of events; but, if England is left to act alone, the formal engagement she took when the situation was wholly different will be abrogated. We must plainly show to the Sultan and to the Powers that we intend to work thoroughly to retain control. When that is done Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues will have secured the completion of their mission. Our commanding naval force and well-organized army will insure the establishment in Egypt of a strong Government under English protection if the Ministry of the Porte refuse to accept upon a path which lies straight before them."

GENERAL TOPICS IN ALEXANDRIA.

LONDON, July 27.—The Daily News has the following dispatch from Alexandria: "Intelligence has been received here that Dervish Pacha, on his arrival at Constantinople, stated that after the bombardment of Alexandria the English engaged in various acts of violence against the inhabitants and pillaged and burned the town."

VARIOUS PHASES OF THE SITUATION.

LONDON, July 26.—General orders have been issued for a large portion of the expeditionary force to embark. A company of engineers and part of the commissariat and transport corps will leave tomorrow; the Household Cavalry on Saturday and the troops from the Mediterranean next week.

THE BRITISH TROOP SELECTED.

LONDON, July 26.—The following marksmen have been selected as members of the British team to go to America to compete in the rifle match: Bates, of the First Warwick; Boulton, of the Second Cheshire; Caldwell and Hoop, of the First Berkshire; Goodall and Hoop, of the Sixth Lancashire; McVittie and Melish, of the Second North; Oliver, of the Third Kent; Parry, of the Second Cheshire, and Major Pearce.

THE SUPPOSED PHOENIX PARK ASSASSIN.

LONDON, July 26.—A detective of the Irish Constabulary will be immediately sent to Caracac to take charge of O'Brien, the man who is held there on suspicion of being one of the murderers of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under-Secretary Burke.

THE FRENCH CREDIT AND THE CABINET.

PARIS, July 26.—The credit which was voted by the Senate yesterday is that of 7,000,000 francs for naval preparations, which had been already passed by the Chamber of Deputies.

TURKISH MILITARY PREPARATIONS.

LONDON, July 26.—The correspondent of The Times in Constantinople says it is reported that the Turkish authorities have begun military preparations by concentrating the corps quartered in Albania and other provinces.

THE DEATH OF MR. MARSH.

ROME, July 26.—At the request of the family of the late Mr. Marsh, the American Minister, the Government has authorized the embalming of the remains, which will be in state at the Foresters' Institute, at Valaubona.

FOREIGN NOTES.

LONDON, Wednesday, July 26, 1892.
A telegram received in London states that Archbishop Fechan, of Chicago, will be elected a Cardinal at the next conclave.

THE DEATH OF MR. MARSH.

ROME, July 26.—At the request of the family of the late Mr. Marsh, the American Minister, the Government has authorized the embalming of the remains, which will be in state at the Foresters' Institute, at Valaubona.

FOREIGN NOTES.

LONDON, Wednesday, July 26, 1892.
A telegram received in London states that Archbishop Fechan, of Chicago, will be elected a Cardinal at the next conclave.

THE DEATH OF MR. MARSH.

ROME, July 26.—At the request of the family of the late Mr. Marsh, the American Minister, the Government has authorized the embalming of the remains, which will be in state at the Foresters' Institute, at Valaubona.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, July 26.—In the House of Commons this afternoon an address thanking the Queen for calling out the reserves was approved without a division. In the debate on the address, Mr. Onslow, Conservative, asked if the Government would not now refuse the cooperation of Turkish troops.